

A Culture That Supports and Celebrates You

Feel valued. Stay connected. Be recognized for the difference you make.

At Henry Ford Health, our culture is built on respect, collaboration, and a shared commitment to exceptional care. We believe that when nurses feel supported and heard, they can do their best work—and that shows in every patient interaction.

You'll be part of a team environment where open communication, mutual trust, and collaboration are part of the everyday experience. From leadership to the bedside, your contributions are acknowledged, and your well-being matters. We foster a workplace where you feel a true sense of belonging, purpose, and pride in the work you do.

We also believe great work deserves to be celebrated. Through a variety of formal and peer-driven recognition programs, we make it easy to highlight the moments—big and small—that make a difference. Whether it's honoring clinical excellence, teamwork, or going above and beyond for patients, we ensure your impact doesn't go unnoticed.

In addition, nurses are recognized through:

- Unit- and system-wide awards
- Peer-to-peer recognition programs
- Celebrations of milestones, achievements, and certifications

Here, recognition isn't just occasional—it's part of our culture.

Because when you feel supported, appreciated, and connected, you don't just succeed—you thrive.
